

Matt is an active police officer with over 10-years' experience serving in various assignments including firearms program manager, rangemaster, Taser instructor, defensive tactics instructor, use-of-force evaluator, field training officer, and an academy instructor for both California and Federal agencies.

Matt also owns Tactical-ish Inc., a training company specializing in firearms training, use-of-force concepts, active shooter response and survival, and first aid training.